BALI EXPOSÉ

Green School student, alumni win CNN Young Wonders award

Green School Bali student Isabel and school alumnus Melati Wijnsen won the 2018 CNN Young Wonders award in New York on Dec. 10. They were among five young people who were recognized for creating a better world.

Melati and Isabel received the awards for Bye Bye Plastic Bags, the movement they started five years ago to ban plastic bag use in Bali.

"I really want to wear the message that we stand for tonight. So my dress says LESS PLASTIC IS FANTASTIC," said Melati who wore a dress made of recycled beads.

Born and raised on the island of Bali, Melati and Isabel spent plenty of time on the beach and witnessed firsthand how plastic pollution damages the ocean and marine life. In their studies at Green School Bali, they studied world leaders who made a difference in the world and were inspired to take action. Earlier this year, they organized 20,000 people to join Bali's Biggest Clean-up, collecting 65 tons of waste.

C151 Smart Villas™ Seminyak wins Gold Circle Award

C151 Smart Villas™ Seminyak has won the 2018 Gold Circle Award from online travel platform Agoda.

In a press release, the villa stated that the award was the pride of the entire team and proved that persistence, experience, hard work and good cooperation were the keys to its success.

"The Gold Circle Award is for all employees," said the villa's general manager, Diah Suryandari. "This will motivate and increase their confidence in providing the best service. [It will also help us] understand the importance of maintaining the quality of our services and products."

The Gold Circle Awards recognize top performing properties based on excellent customer reviews on agoda.com.
